International Guard Services

Professional Security Guards You Can Trust

Why you need us:

Manufacturers, warehouses and industrial facilities all face security problems. International Guard Service security officers have solutions to stop or prevent theft and pilfering, counterfeiting, sabotaging, trespassing, activist disruption, vandalism and contamination. Our security officers help reach your security objectives by creating or enforcing a strong industrial security plan.

Why we are better:

International Guard Services is constantly assessing and reassessing our security personnel. Our first assessment is through an extensive hiring process. We follow up the state mandated requirements with various verbal, written and communications tests, ensuring a well-versed security professional. Every account has a supervisor who performs quality control audits and moral checks. The supervisors are in direct contact with the owner of our company, making needed changes a swift process. The end goal is to meet our client's security objectives with the right security personnel.

Proactive industrial security efforts dramatically reduce your facility's vulnerability and helps protect your people, assets and reputation. Our security officers are prepared to meet your high expectations for site security management and will help limit your facility's risk and liability.
