Commercial and Office Building Security

International Guard Services

Why you need us:

At IGS we understand that office buildings and commercial office parks require security officers that will appropriately represent your business. Our first priority is to maintain a firm security presence by being visible to prevent criminal activity and make employees, tenants, and visitors feel safe. Our officers will also become knowledgeable of the building to report any maintenance issues or help direct visitors to the appropriate location. Our peerless customer service and professional security officers will most likely surpass your expectations and security objectives.

Why we are better:

International Guard Services is constantly assessing and reassessing our security personnel. Our first assessment is through an extensive hiring process. We follow up the state mandated requirements with various verbal, written and communications tests, ensuring a well-versed security professional. Every account has a supervisor who performs quality control audits and moral checks. The supervisors are in direct contact with the owner of our company, making needed changes a swift process. The end goal is to meet our client's security objectives with the right security personnel.
